THE ELECTORAL MAP OF QUÉBEC

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Under section 22 of the Act, the Commission de la représentation benefits from the assistance of the staff made available by the Chief Electoral Officer.

The Commission would like to make special mention of the professionalism, expertise and invaluable cooperation of all the staff members who provided constant support to the Commission throughout its work. This assistance was of prime importance in the work of the Commission de la représentation.

PRESENTATION

In accordance with the provisions of the Act respecting electoral representation (R.S.Q. c. R-21), the Commission de la représentation shall table before the National Assembly its report indicating the boundaries of the electoral divisions of Québec.

This report is made up of two parts:

- the first part presents the new electoral map of Québec and is divided into three sections: the first section reiterates the boundary proposals submitted on September 15, 1987; the second indicates the boundaries of the divisions chosen by the Commission following representations by electors and members of the National Assembly; the third section contains various tables relating to the Commission's decision.

- the second part presents and describes each of the electoral divisions of the new electoral map.

ELECTORAL MAP OF QUÉBEC

1. PROPOSAL CONCERNING NEW BOUNDARIES TO THE ELECTORAL DIVISIONS OF QUÉBEC

Taking into account the orientations and consensuses indicated by the Standing Commission on Institutions during its working sessions in January 1987, and in accordance with the new legal criteria of section 3 of the Act respecting electoral representation, as amended by Bill 25 (1987, chapter 28) passed on June 18, 1987, the Commission de la représentation tabled on September 15, 1987 before the members of the National Assembly its preliminary proposal concerning new boundaries to the electoral divisions of Québec.

1.1 Proposal

As submitted, the proposal of the Commission de la représentation set at 124 the number of electoral divisions of Québec; it modified 47 divisions, 6 of these alterations involve no electors, and it allowed, in addition to the division of Îles-de-la-Madeleine specifically noted in the Act, a special division, that of Ungava.

Respecting its mandate to establish the boundaries of the electoral divisions of Québec by taking into account the principle that the vote of each elector is of equal weight, the Commission de la représentation formulated its preliminary proposal in accordance with the criteria provided for under section 3 of the Act:

> "3. There shall be no fewer that 122 nor more than 125 electoral divisions.
> 3.1 An electoral division represents a natural community established on the basis of demographical, geographical and sociological considerations, such as the population density, the relative growth rate of the population, the accessibility, area or shape of the region, the natural local boundaries and the limits of municipalities.

3.2 The boundaries of each electoral division shall be drawn in such a way that the number of electors in a division, according to the electoral list in force at the last general election, does not deviate by more than 25 per cent from the quotient obtained by dividing the total number of electors by the number of electoral divisions."

In addition to the standards prescribed by the Act, the submitted proposal, based on the principle that the vote of each elector is of equal weight, respected a number of objectives that the Commission had established for itself and to which it conformed throughout its work.

These objectives include:

1. to correct the number of electors in all divisions that have now become or will shortly become exceptions to the rule;
2. to respect a certain balance between the regions (geographical grouping of electoral divisions) to insure that the average number of electors per division does not vary significantly from one region to the next;
3. to affect as few electors and divisions as possible so that the alterations made are not subject to major changes the next time the electoral map is revised;
4. to seek a maximum amount of coherency in the application of standards and objectives.

For the Commission de la représentation, this proposal seemed the best possible one at this stage.

1.2 Consultation process

The tabling of the Commission's preliminary report was followed by the consultation process provided for by the Act.

From November 16, 1987 through to February 3, 1988, the Commission de la représentation held seven public hearings and participated in the working sessions of the Standing Commission on Institutions. During this period the Commission visited the cities of Longueuil, Terrebonne, Montréal, Salaberry-de-Valleyfield, Lévis, Drummondville, and Québec. Some 90 intervening parties were heard and 167 documents (briefs, petitions, letters, notes, etc.) tabled.

As for the working sessions of the Standing Commission on Institutions, they allowed 37 members of the National Assembly to make representations.

It is important to emphasize the number of persons who came before the Commission as well as the seriousness and the quality of all the representations made. The public hearings and the working sessions of the Standing Committee on Institutions were an exceptional source of information for the Commission de la représentation.

Indeed, all these exchanges with the members of the National Assembly, electors and interested organizations enabled the Commission to gather choice information on the populations in question, in particular concerning their feeling of belonging.

Convinced of the relevance of the elements submitted, the Commission proceeded to study and analyse each of the proposals for change that were recommended. While respecting the criteria of the Act and the four objectives the Commission had set for itself from the very beginning of its work, the latter was able to assent to several of these requests. The specific information provided by members of the commmunity helped improve the establishing of boundaries for certain electoral divisions.

2. NEW ELECTORAL MAP OF QUÉBEC

In accordance with the provisions of the Act respecting electoral representation, the Commission de la représentation has decided:

- to add three (3) new electoral divisions, increasing the total number of electoral divisions from 122 to 125 for 4,576,600 electors.

  The average number of electors will thus be 36,613 and the deviation limits of not more than 25% (1987, c.28, s.3.2) will be 27,460 electors in the case of the minimum limit and 45,766 electors for the maximum limit;

- to modify 46 electoral divisions; 10 of these alterations involve no elector;

- to allow a special division, namely that of Ungava, in accordance with the provisions of the first paragraph of section 4 of the Act:

  > "4. The Commission may, for exceptional reasons, depart from the rule set out in section 3.2, if it considers that, due to special circumstances, its application would not adequately serve the purpose of this act. Such a decision shall be substantiated in writing in each case."

The grounds for this decision are as follows:

> The division of Ungava currently embraces a vast territory where very few people live in scattered settlements of unequal importance. Demographic considerations alone would have justified a new boundary. However, due to extensive distances, the absence of direct links between municipalities situated on the outskirts, the possibility of new development projects and the chain reaction that would significantly affect the neighbouring regional fabrics were the Commission to proceed to any other alteration, the Commission had no choice other than to maintain Ungava as a division that constitutes an exception.

2.1 Designation of electoral divisions

Under section 5 of the Act, the Commission shall assign, where necessary, new names to each electoral division delimited by it, after consulting the Commission de la toponymie.

All the new designations chosen by the Commission de la représentation have received, as of March 10, 1988, a favourable opinion from the Commission de la toponymie.

2.2 Island of Montréal

On the island of Montréal the following divisions have been modified: Anjou, Bourget, Jacques-Cartier, Lafontaine, Maisonneuve, Marquette, Nelligan, Notre-Dame-de-Grâce, Outremont, Robert-Baldwin, Saint-Henri, Saint-Jacques, Saint-Louis, Sainte-Marie and Westmount.

An adjustment, which involves no elector, has been made to the divisions of Acadie and Crémazie.

Three new place-names have been chosen to better correspond to local identification. They are Hochelaga-Maisonneuve, Pointe-aux-Trembles and Lorimier.

2.3 Montréal North Shore

The divisions of Groulx, L'Assomption, Rousseau and Terrebonne have been modified.

One division has been added, that of Masson, and the place-name of Terrebonne has been kept for the modified division.

Moreover, a boundary adjustment has been made between the divisions of Prévost and Rousseau as well as between the divisions of Labelle and Papineau to respect municipal limits.

2.4 Montréal South Shore

On the Montréal South Shore, the following divisions have been modified: Beauharnois, Châteauguay, Huntingdon, Laprairie, Saint-Hyacinthe and Vaudreuil-Soulanges. As a result, three new or partially new place-names have been introduced: Beauharnois-Huntingdon, Salaberry and Vaudreuil.

The Commission has added a new division. It is the division of Lapinière, which includes the city of Brossard.

2.5 Québec North Shore

The Commission has modified the boundaries between the divisions of Limoilou and Montmorency, as well as between those of Charlevoix and Dubuc.

An adjustment, which involves no elector, has been made to the divisions of La Peltrie and Vanier.

2.6 Québec South Shore

The Commission de la représentation has added a new division on the Québec South Shore. It has assigned this division the name of Les Chutes-de-la-Chaudière. This addition affects the divisions of Beauce-Sud, Beauce-Nord and Lévis.

2.7 Estrie - Bois-Francs

The Commission has modified four divisions, namely those of Arthabaska, Drummond, Johnson and Richmond.

Moreover, to conform to the new municipal limits, the Commission has made an adjustment to the boundaries between the divisions of Orford, Saint-François and Sherbrooke.

The Commission has changed the place-name of Nicolet to Nicolet-Yamaska.

2.8 Conclusion

- New electoral map of Québec

In accordance with section 34 of the Act:

"34. The list of electoral divisions published in the Gazette officielle du Québec comes into force upon the dissolution of the National Assembly, unless the dissolution occurs before the expiry of three months from publication."

PART II

THE 125 ELECTORAL DIVISIONS

1. EXPLANATORY NOTES ON THE DESCRIPTION OF DIVISIONS

The description of the 125 electoral divisions is presented in two parts:

- under the heading entitled "3.1 - Created or modified electoral divisions", we find, in alphabetical order, the description of the added electoral divisions and the description of those that have undergone changes. In each case, the description is accompanied by a map illustrating the new boundaries;
- under the heading entitled "3.2 - Unchanged electoral divisions", we find the description of those divisions whose boundaries have not been changed by the Commission.

The electoral population appears under the name of each division. The former was calculated using elector figures as provided by the Chief Electoral Officer of Québec in his report "Rapport des résultats officiels du scrutin du 2 décembre 1985."

The municipalities and their boundaries are those existing as at March 1, 1988.

When the words autoroute (highway), avenue, boulevard, chemin (road), côte (hill), rue (street), fleuve (river) and rivière (stream) are used, reference is made to their median line, except as otherwise expressly provided.

The maps give a general idea of the new divisions. They are not always to the same scale; as a result the represented surface may vary considerably from one division to the next.

Moreover, some maps do not show the entire division in order to better illustrate the particulars of the change that has occurred.

At the end of this publication readers will find a map of all the new divisions of the Province highlighting the changes in relation to current divisions.

BEAUHARNOIS-HUNTINGDON

33 784

The electoral division of Beauharnois-Huntingdon comprises the following municipalities: Beauharnois t, Dundee twnsp, Elgin twnsp, Franklin n-d, Godmanchester twnsp, Havelock twnsp, Hemmingford twnsp, Hemmingford v, Hinchinbrook twnsp, Howick v, Huntingdon t, Ormstown v, Saint-Anicet p, Sainte-Barbe p, Saint-Chrysostome v, Sainte-Clotilde-de-Châteauguay p, Saint-Édouard p, Saint-Étienne-de-Beauharnois n-d, Saint-Jean-Chrysostome p, Saint-Malachie-d'Ormstown p, Sainte-Martine p, Saint-Michel p, Saint-Patrice-de-Sherrington p, Saint-Paul-de-Châteauguay n-d, Saint-Rémi t, Saint-Urbain-Premier p and Très-Saint-Sacrement p.

It also comprises the Indian reserve of Saint-Régis (Akwesane).

History of the name

Beauharnois has been an electoral division since 1829 and Huntingdon, since 1792. The juxtaposition of these two names brings to mind these two divisions and the joining of the city of Beauharnois to the division of Huntingdon.

The place-name Beauharnois comes from the patronymic of the concession holders of the seigniory of the same name, Charles de Beauharnois (1670- 1749), Governor of New France, and his brother Claude (1674-1738).

The origin of Huntingdon can be traced back to the toponymy of England where this name identified a country of the centre-east.

HOCHELAGA-MAISONNEUVE

37 449

The electoral division of Hochelaga-Maisonneuve comprises part of the town of Montréal bounded as follows: the rue Rachel, the rue Sherbrooke, the extension of the railway line of the Canadian National Railway Company, such way and its extension, the fleuve Saint-Laurent, the extension of the rue Bercy and the railway line of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

History of the name

The linking of the place-name Hochelaga to that of Maisonneuve, which already identifies a division, makes it possible to better designate the new division whose boundaries correspond to that of the Hochelaga-Maisonneuve social area.

Hochelaga is perhaps one of the names that has been linked the longest to the history of Montréal. It recalls the Indian village discovered by Jacques Cartier on the sides of Mount Royal in 1535. As for the meaning of this Indian name, opinions differ greatly. It may mean "The place where one surprises someone in an ambush" just as it may mean "Where the beavers build their dam" or "Place where one spends the winter".

Maisonneuve calls to mind Paul de Chomedey, sieur de Maisonneuve (1612 to 1676), founder of Ville-Marie and first governor of the island of Montréal.

LAPINIÈRE

36 584

The electoral division of Lapinière comprises the town of Brossard.

History of the name

This name is found, albeit in two words (La Pinière), in writings of the nineteenth century where it identified a road, a slope, an ascent and even a place. Originally, this name is said to have been attributed to a place in the "parish of Laprairie de la Magdeleine" where many pine trees grew.

LES CHUTES-DE-LA-CHAUDIÈRE

The electoral division of Les Chutes-de-la-Chaudière comprises the following municipalities: Bernières n-d, Charny t, Saint-Étienne-de-Lauzon n-d, Saint-Hélène-de-Breakeyville p, Saint-Jean-Chrysostome t, Saint-Lambert-de-Lauzon p, Saint-Nicolas t, Saint-Rédempteur t and Saint-Romuald t.

Explanation of the name

This name identifies a new division on the Québec South Shore.

Having its source in lac Mégantic, the rivière Chaudière flows into the St. Lawrence River near pont de Québec.

Over the years this river has been known under several names including Trail Arnold, Rivière du Saut de la Chaudière, Rivière Méchatigan, Rivière Sartigan, etc. Originally, that part of the river that runs through the Beauce had the Amerindian name of Méchatigan, meaning "dark river". This name subsequently became Sartigan. The Chaudière was a major communication route. The Abenakis used it often; this route was also used by Iberville when he attempted to take Boston. Later on, the American Generals Arnold and Moreau travelled this route to invade Québec.

It is near its mouth that the river flows into a depression in the form of a "caldron", which explains the name Chutes-de-la-Chaudière.

MASSON
36 746

The electoral division of Masson comprises the following municipalities: Charlemagne t, Lachenaie t, La Plaine p, Le Gardeur t, L'Épiphanie p, L'Épiphanie t and Mascouche t.

History of the name

This name honours a family that distinguished itself in business and in politics and that was closely tied to the region where the proposed division is located. In December 1832 Joseph Masson (1791-1847), one of the wealthiest businessmen in Lower Canada, acquired the seigniory of Terrebonne and endeavoured to give it a new economic life. He died prematurely in May 1847 and his widow, Sophie-Geneviève Masson succeeded him in conducting the business of the seigniory. As the head of the seigniory, she constructed a large house, the "Château-Masson", thus completing a project that her husband was devoted to for many years. She also contributed to the founding of the former classical college at Terrebonne. Furthermore, their son, François-Roderick (1833-1903) was a member in the House of Commons, Minister, Senator, member of the Québec Legislative Council and Lieutenant-Governor of Québec from 1884-1887.

POINTE-AUX-TREMBLES

The electoral division of Pointe-aux-Trembles comprises the town of Montréal-Est and part of the town of Montréal, the whole bounded as follows: the limit of the towns of Montréal-Est and Montréal, the boulevard Métropolitain (40), the Hydro-Québec overhead electric power line, the fleuve Saint-Laurent, the extension of the rue Mercier, such way, the railway line of the Canadian National Railway Company, the rue Saint-Émile, the rue Sherbrooke and the limit of the town of Montréal-Est with the towns of Montréal and Anjou.

History of the name

L.A. Huguet-Latour, a historian of the town of Pointe-aux-Trembles, wrote in 1867 that "the name of Pointe-aux-Trembles has its origin in a long projection of land, planted with aspen, that the waters of the river washed away a long time ago."

This name identifies a district of the city of Montréal, originally part of the town of Pointe-aux-Trembles which was annexed to Montréal on July 17, 1982. The parish of l'Enfant-Jésus-de-la-Pointe-aux-Trembles is one of the oldest on the Island of Montréal, since it was canonically established in 1678.

History of the name

The juxtaposition of the place-names of Yamaska and Nicolet illustrates the fact that the current electoral division is made up of two distinct territories. The two names appeared in 1829 to designate the electoral division of Nicolet and that of Yamaska respectively.

Nicolet takes its origin from the rivière Nicolet which crosses the division. The name calls to mind Jean Nicolet (1598-1642) who was an interpreter, a clerk for the Compagnie des Cent-Associés and a liaison officer between the Amerindians and explorers.

Yamaska which means "there where the bulrushes are" is also the name of a river whose mouth is in the division.
